

Changes in taste (dysgeusia) are common during chemotherapy and radiation therapy and can occur in up to 50% of patients. Taste changes can be caused by damage to the taste buds, dry mouth, infection, or dental problems. Foods may seem to have no taste or may not taste the way they did before cancer treatment.

Soothease Candies were developed to promote comfort and support the human body's ability to maintain normal taste sensation.

Natural Candies to revive your tastebuds

Each candy is available in Heart Shapes and Lollipops.

Hi. My name is Samantha and I developed Soothease while going through chemotherapy treatment for cancer.

I experienced several side effects during treatment but my biggest complaint by far was how awful my mouth felt. It was always dry and uncomfortable and I would develop terrible mouth sores. Everything tasted like aluminum which made eating unenjoyable.

As a holistic chef, I believe in the power of natural, earth-based foods. After many hours of trying combinations of various organic ingredients, I was finally satisfied with a great tasting candy.

I developed three flavors: the Honey Lavender and Chocolate Brown Rice both had a soothing effect and the Orange Barley helped my food taste better.
